

ANACACHO, a new Allie Armington Mystery
By Louise Gaylord

Allie Armington's thigh deep in Texas oil, cattle and drugs.
How did she get there? It's a mystery!

Little Moose Press presents Anacacho, first book in the mystery series, featuring a bright, feisty, young Texas attorney named Allie Armington.

Anacacho is a finely crafted mystery that takes place in contemporary Texas. Starting with a bang, as Allie reluctantly meets with her college best friend (who stole her boyfriend and is now married to him), the book rapidly evolves into a page turner and nail biter. From this reunion to a murder and conspiracy involving cattle, oil and drugs, Allie finds herself in the thick of things, and it nearly costs her her life.

In the tradition of Sue Grafton and Faye Kellerman, Louise Gaylord's premiere mystery novel is sure to please fans of exciting, plot twists and turns mysteries. The characters are engaging, with an assortment of those we like and those we love to hate. The problem is, we don't really know who the good guys are until the end. And that's what makes it all the more fun.

Louise Gaylord is a prolific writer of novels, short stories and stage plays. She is currently working on the second Allie Armington mystery set in New York City.

As Little Moose Press geared up for the upcoming release of its flagship book, Anacacho, by Louise Gaylord, they were informed by Biblio Distribution, a division of National Book Network (NBN), that the company has accepted the book for distribution. Publication date is March 2003.

Ellen Reid, Publisher of Little Moose Press said, "We have been very excited about the launch of Anacacho. Louise Gaylord has such a fantastic way with plot and characters, we knew the book would be well received. Getting this acceptance was just a wonderful confirmation of what we already believed." Louise divides her time between Houston, Texas, Montecito, California and the Adirondacks.

Little Moose Press is a publisher located in Beverly Hills, California.

#

Contact: Ellen Reid
Little Moose Press
269 South Beverly Drive #1065
Beverly Hills, CA 90212
310-446-3005 866-234-0626
www.littlemoosepress.com